NOTE FOR: Deputy Director for Intelligence

[redacted] called to inquire whether or not [redacted] comments on our report on IIASA had changed our minds at all. I told him that I had given the comments to people other than the originator of the report in question and they concluded that while there might be minor differences, they agreed with the overall thrust of the initial report. That being the case I would not change the conclusions of the original report. He thanked me and withdrew.
